Everyooly knows that the life of the average physician is a hard one. He is unea compelled to ride great distances through mud and rain for a merely nominal fee. It is not fit nor proper for us to condemn any physician for his work, but we do assert that his practice can be made easily, and he can effect more curss by the proper and judicious use of Pentuya. If he will only add this great remedy to nis list of medicines he will find that his usefulness will be greatly increased. Full direction for its use will be found in the "Ills of Life," and he should at once procure this valuable book.

N. J. Wright, Business Agent Evening Herald, Eric, Pa., says; "Dr., Harrman—I can not but feel it my duty to express to you my thanks for the great benefit I received from the use of your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. One buttle of each placed me square on my feet; after a sickness of four weeks, which confined me to my bed, and then left me lame and crippled. Three days from the commencement of the use of your remedies the cane was dispensed with, and in a week I was perfectly well."

Mrs. Ellen Maynard, Oswego, Potter county, Pa., writes: "Dn. Harman. Columbus, O. The small ulcers are all healed, and the two large ones are not more than half as large as they were. Attention, Doctors.

county, Pa., writes: "DR. HARTMAN, Columbus, O. The small ulcres are all healed, and the two large ones are not more than half as large as they were. I am feeling quite well. The people say your Peruna and Manalin are doing a miracle. I do not take nearly so much opium as I did before."

Joseph Thomas, East Brady, Pa., writes: "I have used your Peruna and Manalin with good results. In the year of 1880 I was so bad that I could scarcely walk. I used Peruna and Manalin, and am now as healthy as I have ever been. I have also recommended it to several parties, and they have been much benefited by it."

Mr. C. H. Harris, New Vienna, Ohio, writes: "Our little girl was paralyzed at thirteen months old, and we resorted to everything we could hear of for relief, but she appeared to get but little better.

to everything we could hear of for relief, but she appeared to get but little better. Hearing of Perusa we concluded to try it, and will say it has done her a great deal of good—the first bottle apparently giving aid and relief. We have used it for nervousness in other cases on other persons and found it a success. For general debility, and in fact for any disease, we don't think anything else can at all compare with it. We have used forty or fifty bettles, and our house is never without PERUSA. Our little girl is now eight years old, and can run any place, was for four years helpless. PERUNA cured her."

San Franciscan.

They got a new reporter on the Portland Slasher the other day. He was a young with a high forehead, hair paried in the aiddle, nad a dreamy, poetic eye. He vas just from college, and he knew he could make a success as a journalist, because he he had written a short story for idody's Lady Book. He remarked to the dittor that Unita was the only writer was a soit, idyllic charm about William Black's books that was sinaply inmable.

The editor said he "shouldn't wonder," The editor said he "shouldn't wonder," and sear the man down to see what was eding on at the police court. Later on the way. "Biddy Mcis'innis did you strike the deendant with a beer mug?" asked His Honor, as a woman with a red shawl and nose took the stand.

The soft spring sephyra rustled the papers on the dusty desks. Through the open window came the distant chirp of the bobolink, from the meadows fragrant with the breath of daisy-be-spangled crain. "I'll not be desavin yer hosor; I guv 'im ther fall of me fist in the eye, sur."
From the fresh hedgerows and primroseflecked dell floated the delicate seent of

"It's the ite she guv me that begun it," remarked Mr Hoolihan, from his seat.

"It's not ther first illigant dance she bruck up wid her ructions intoirly, so it ian't."

The judge wiped his cardinal tinted brow, and his gazs wandered out through the checkered squares of sunlight that drifted down from the idly stirring leaves of the maple trees to where the hazy outlines of the far off hills melted into the blue svanescent mist of the evening sky. The dying ann threw a tender flood of purple light over the slowly reddening expanse, while in the middle distance an implacable crag lifted its fevered forehead to the slow coming dews.

"The whole gang of 'em were b'ilin' drunr, Yer Honor," said Officer Grabbey.

The woman's been up twenty-one times already."

It was the clear note of the quail in the stubble, the freshening breze brought faintly but sweetly to their ears, mingled quaintly with the twitter of the moth-pursuing orioles flashing through the orchard opening and away into the dim gathering shadows.

"It's a loie, Yer Honor—only niseteen times: divil the wan more."

By this time the solemn, slow clouds had piled in a far-reaching, sinister shape above the bloody couch of the slain and dying day. At their summit two stead-last eyes came out to see, as though in the far gravness of remote antiquity some sphinx. Cain bent his steadiast and unrem seefal gaze above his fresh-murdered kin.

"Six months" said the court. "Next!"

"Did you write this?" asked the editor.

"I flatter mysel! I did," said the dreamy-eyed reporter.

"Come with me."

And in few minutes the editor returned with gore—fresh human gore spots—on his cuffs.
